Cato Supreme Court Review, 2011-2012 Ilya Shapiro

Published every September in celebration of Constitution Day, the Cato Supreme Court Review brings together leading legal scholars to analyze the most important cases of the Court's most recent term. It is the first scholarly review to appear after the term's end and the only one to critique the court from a Madisonian perspective. This year's review looks at the Supreme Court's recent decisions involving the Affordable Care Act, immigration, property rights, intellectual property, GPS surveillance, plea bargaining, and more.
